

Jack and the beanstalk

Jack and the beanstalk

This is Jack.
He lives with his mother.
They are very poor.
They have a cow.

The mother: We have no money left.
 We must sell the cow.

Jack: All right mother.
 I'll go to the market.

On his way, Jack meets an old man.
The man buys the cow and pays with a few beans.

Jack returns home.
His mother is angry.
She throws the beans away.

The mother: Oh! Jack! You are silly!

During the night... a beanstalk grows.

The following morning, Jack is surprised and curious.
He decides to climb. He climbs ... He climbs ... He climbs... ... right to the top!
He sees... ... a giant castle.
Knock! Knock! Knock! No one!

Jack enters the castle. He sees.....some gold coins, a hen and a harp.

Suddenly... a giant arrives! A tall, tall giant!

The giant: Fee! Fi! Fo! Fum!
 I smell the blood of an Englishman!

Jack hides quickly.
The giant can't see anyone. he takes a nap.
Jack grabs the coins, the hen and the harp.
Oh! The giant wakes up!

Jack runs! The giant runs after him!
Jack slides down ...down... down... But the giant follows him!

Jack gets an axe. He cuts the stalk! It is the end of the giant!

Jack and his mother keep the coins, the hen and the harp. They are rich now.
Tales from Earth can be cruel to giants. Don't you think?
